

Writing Prompt

EXPLORATION

Write about the kind of bravery it must have taken for the Pounds to strike out on their own and go to a nameless place with no people. They had no idea what they would encounter there. Is there any kind of similar experience to this today? Why or why not?

[illegible]